could be purchased for 66c. Hens, could be purchased for coc. Tens, of course, were royal luxuries at $13,12 each, and horse flesh was in great demand at $1,72 per pound, mules commanding the higher price of $2,50 per pound. Bear meat was scarce and tough but sold readily at

RUSSIA'S DARK HOUR OF TRIAL

The Russians having abandoned conscription and abolished disc plice from their army are now enrolling a volunteer army which will elect its own officers and fight or run away according to inclination exeiect its own officers had fight or run away according to inclination pressed by hallot. The volunter army in assembling rather slowly, but the conscript army is melting like associable in a back-slope. Rather a strange time to try eigeriments with the Hun already at the gate and most of the fener pickets boostend. The Russians, instead of considering peace propositions, will soon have to swallow a peace pill made-in-Berlin which will produce only are instead through the sworth, and the stronger the territory in the swallow at peace pill made-in-Berlin which will produce only are instead through the sworth, and the stronger the stronger the swallow at peace pill made in-Berlin which will produce only are successful manufactors. Peace is made by the sworth, and the stronger the tional hamilitation. Peece is made by the sword, and the stronger the sword the better the peace; so Russi's chances are saint. In the mean-time the world watches the Russian tragedy unfold amid the shattering influences of an unbiddled demoracy and prays for the development of some strong lendor, be facilitate, Care or Provident, to save a great anido from being pladed to pieces by the unprincipled vultures of Prus-siainism. Startling events of world-wide importance have developed so fast in Russia that spectation of this fourful tragedy show one of what next to expect, but hope against hope that constructive influences will arise out of the wreck and repair the damage caused by the agencies of destruction which are now tearing apart the national fabric.

CONSERVING CANADA'S TIMBER RESOURCES

For many years the system of protecting the forests from the ravages of fire has been haphazard at best and the fireforests from the ravages of fer has been haphazard at best and the fire-raping system in vogue has been briggly an annual vaccion for a buich of green college students. Consideration is also being given to the possible advantages of using aeroplane patrols to add to tile efficiency of the forest fire fighter, and it is quite within the range of probability that a flight squadror may assist at no distant day in protecting the forests.

The reckless waste of Canada's forest wealth is emphasized by the steady disappearance of lumber mills in the older communities, the san batteries having steadily retreated northward as the forests have bee cut and slashed to get the quickest financial returns, with no provisio for the permanency of the industry or regard for the future.

The Cable Service of The Globe ~

TO-DAY there is hardly any Canadian who is not intensely, and often personally, interested in the news that reaches THE GLOBE by cable from all parts of the earth. Events in England, in France, in Egypt, in Russia and in Japan have taken on a greater significance to Canadians these last few years.

 \boldsymbol{T} HE present world-embracing cable service that THE GLOBE gives its readers is without precedent in Canadian journalism.

THE GLOBE prints each morning the Exclusive cables of The London Times (perhaps the world's premier newspaper), The London Chronicle, The New York Times (the new world's leading paper) and The Philadelphia Ledger.

IN addition to these important sources of news,
THE GLOSE employs the full services of

Why The Canadians Took No Prisoners

It was terrible. It was happiring. Through an hewed and fought and bled and died. But, outnumbered as they were they got the position and captured the battery of 4.7 guns that had been lost earlier in the day.

This night the Germans caught and crucified dian sergeants. I did not see them crucify the men, although I saw the palms of the hands and the feet, where by bayone grants was still alive when taken down, and before he died he out to his saviors that when the Germans where raising him to be erneified they muttered savagely in perfect English; "If we frighten you before, this time we will."

I knew a sergeant of Edmonton, Alberts, who has in his poion to-day, the actual photographs of the crucified men taken before and bodies where removed from the barmide.

I doubt if there will again be a battle fought in this war when the feeling of the men will be an blitter as at St. Julien. Men were found dead with their bayonets through the body of some Hun, men Their bodies were dead, as we understand death, but the God given spirit carried the earthbound fiesh forward to do its work, to avenge comrades murdered and womanhood outraged. It was marvelous it may have been a miracle. It was done, and for all time has proved to be the boys who fought out there the power of the spirit over

We had seen atrochics on the Belgians the day before. We had een young girls who were mutilated and horribly maitreated. We had been gassed, we had seen our comrades die in awful horror. We had our sergeants crucified, and we were outnumbered ten to one After all this, and after all the hell through which we had pause from 6 that morning until after 2, when we reached the enemy trench and presented the birght ends of our bayonets, Mr. Fritz went down on his knees and cried, "Kamerad! Kamerad!"

What did we do? We did exactly what you would have done un cos.--"Kamerad!"-bah!!
